

The following mosaic is of a countryside I was able to find while visiting the Boboli Gardens in Florence, Italy. I am unsure what this particular area of Florence is supposed to be, but it was too beautiful of a view for me to pass up the chance. In a way, this mosaic serves more as a makeshift panorama because of my attempt to get the whole hillside (even if it didn't come out very cleanly).